India & The Sub-Continent – Wildlife

Unique, exciting and unforgettable are some of the words used to describe India and the sub-continent's rich collection of wildlife and wilderness. Expansive flatlands, marshy grasslands, lakes and tropical forests invite a myriad of common and rare species of migratory birds while being home to an exquisite range of wild animals. The diversity of landscape, weather and animal species in India have always attracted the interest of tourists, wildlife experts and nature lovers. Blessed with dense jungles, India is a haven to some of the rare, endangered and exotic species of flora and fauna. While the Gir forest is the only preserve in the world that houses Asiatic lions, other sanctuaries such as Kanha and Bandhavgarh are inhabited by the Royal Bengal Tiger. Greater one-horned rhinoceros and Asian Elephants are some of the other wildlife species unique to India. Leopards can be best spotted in the Yala National Park in Sri Lanka.

With so much to see, explore and learn, it can be challenging to know where to begin and what you should include. Bespoke India Holidays, as India's leading travel experts, are pleased to showcase the grandeur of wildlife in a one-off way. We have an unmatched history of having offered exclusive wildlife tourism services with our bespoke packages and itineraries designed to give you the best of wildlife experiences in India. While innovation is our forte, we are focused on meticulous planning and package design that ensures a rich holiday experience. We are also committed to eco-tourism and design of sustainable tours where we ensure the delicate environment is preserved for our future generations and travellers.

Join us as we take you through the many mesmerising jungles of India and experience the thrill of the unknown like never before.
